could be mistaken for thinking you were in the Caribbean.

The area is still virgin-like and very quiet making it perfect for your own private villa getaway. Multi accommodation resort, boutique hotel, surf camp or yoga/well-being retreat would suit this very special property as well.

Huge 8 metre road access and the government is focusing on improving infrastructure markedly in the region. A prime example is electricity which is in the process of being installed throughout the immediate area. Prices are still very reasonable on Sumba but will steadily rise both short and long term as more and more Australians and Europeans discover just how beautiful and untouched the island still is combined with the infrastructure improvements.
