The very creative and innovative design and architect team has been looking for new materials to create a typical Javanese Gladak house and found this amazing solution made from steel. It is durable, easy to be maintained and it can be easily moved from one location to another.

Metal panels, painted white, have been used for the structure of the house and ceiling high windows were installed wherever possible in combination with beautiful wooden panels. The interior was filled with warm materials and the result is an absolutely stylish house. Beautiful furniture with attention to decorative details and accessories complete the cool but cozy creation.

Space has been used to perfection to establish a comfortable living and dining area with an open kitchen, an office space and a generous bedroom with adjoining bathroom. It is the perfect house for a single person or a couple who looks for a different way of living.

A small gorgeous garden is adjacent to the terrace. Secure parking is provided.
