providing great quality of life in a compact size. And don't forget about the breezy outdoor common area and garden, which is a perfect social hangout space. The building also contains ample undercover parking and a guest parking area.

This apartment is one of six in a recently finished eco-development. Everything from the foundation and materials to energy consumption and waste management has been thought through in detail to make sure that this apartment exists in harmony with the Balinese nature and climate.

The orientation and design of the building have been chosen to maximise breeze and light whilst minimising heat and glare from the sun. Water consumption is reduced through a smart catchment and recycled into the planters with the use of a Bio-septic system. Energy consumption has been minimised with smart fittings and appliances without compromising on quality of life.
